(Photo: Michael Jackson) Trumpeter Wadada Leo Smith and guitarist Mary Halvorson are among the artists who topped multiple categories in the 65th Annual DownBeat International Critics Poll. Smith won the Trumpet category, he was voted Jazz Artist of the Year, and his Cuneiform release America's National Parks was voted Jazz Album of the Year. "Decades into his remarkable career, Wadada Leo Smith continues to reach new peaks," said Bobby Reed, DownBeat editor. "America's National Parks is an engaging, important work of art—one that illustrates not only that Wadada is a great musician but also an intriguing, ambitious conceptualist." Halvorson topped four categories: Guitar, Rising Star–Jazz Artist, Rising Star–Jazz Group (for her namesake trio) and Rising Star–Composer. Halvorson, who has become an in-demand collaborator as well as a revered bandleader, will headline a residency at New York's Village Vanguard on July 18–23. Other artists with multiple wins in the poll include Christian McBride, who topped the categories Bass and Rising Star–Producer, and Charles Lloyd, who won for Tenor Saxophone and Jazz Group (for Charles Lloyd & The Marvels). Maria Schneider takes home honors in three categories: Composer, Arranger and Big Band (for the Maria Schneider Orchestra). The Historical Album winner is the Bill Evans two-disc set Some Other Time: The Lost Session From The Black Forest (Resonance), which was recorded in 1968. The Blues Album winner is David Bromberg Band, The Blues, The Whole Blues And Nothing But The Blues, released by Red House Records. There was a rare tie in the category Rising Star–Female Vocalist, with Jen Shyu and Becca Stevens receiving the same number of votes. Trumpeter and world-music pioneer Don Cherry (1936–'95) was elected into the DownBeat Hall of Fame via the Critics Poll, and the DownBeat Veterans Committee voted to induct three artists: pianist Herbie Nichols (1919–'63), composer George Gershwin (1898–1937) and pianist Eubie Blake (1887–1983). Other winners in the poll include Anat Cohen (Clarinet), Steve Turre (Trombone), Jane Ira Bloom (Soprano Saxophone), Kenny Barron (Piano), Nicole Mitchell (Flute), Matana Roberts (Rising Star–Alto Saxophone), Thundercat (Rising Star–Electric Bass), Sara Caswell (Rising Star–Violin) and Cecilia Smith (Rising Star–Vibraphone). The August issue of DownBeat has features on numerous Critics Poll winners, along with the complete results for each category, listing more than 1,200 artists who received votes. (Photo: Joe Martinez) DownBeat is proud to announce the results of its 82nd Annual Readers Poll. Wynton Marsalis topped the Trumpet category, and readers elected him into the DownBeat Hall of Fame. Diana Krall topped the categories Female Vocalist and Jazz Album of the Year, for her exquisite disc Turn Up The Quiet (Verve). Corea was voted Jazz Artist of the Year. Herbie Hancock topped both the Piano and Keyboard categories. Snarky Puppy topped the Jazz Group category, Chris Potter won the Tenor Saxophone category and Anat Cohen topped the Clarinet category. The Maria Schneider Orchestra was voted the top Big Band, and its leader took home the honors for top Composer and Arranger. The winner for Historical Album is the Bill Evans Trio's On A Monday Evening (Fantasy), documenting performances in Madison, Wisconsin, on Nov. 15, 1976. The readers' choice for top Blues Album is TajMo (Concord), a collaboration between revered blues veterans Taj Mahal and Keb' Mo'. Guitarist Jeff Beck topped the Beyond Artist or Group category, and the Beyond Album honors went to You Want It Darker (Columbia), the final album by singer-songwriter Leonard Cohen, who passed away Nov. 7, 2016. "The results of this year's Readers Poll are an indication of the incredible variety and depth of talent on the jazz scene today," said DownBeat Editor Bobby Reed. "Wynton Marsalis' induction into the DownBeat Hall of Fame is a reminder that he is not only a remarkable composer and bandleader, but also one of the most skillful musicians to ever pick up a trumpet. With his induction into the Hall of Fame, he joins timeless luminaries such as Louis Armstrong, John Coltrane, Miles Davis, Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Dizzy Gillespie and Billie Holiday." The December issue of DownBeat contains the complete results in all 34 Readers Poll categories. Additionally, the issue includes features on numerous poll winners, including Marsalis, Corea, Krall, Snarky Puppy, and Taj Mahal and Keb' Mo', as well as Christian McBride, who won the Bass category.
